Mandatory Installation Requirements

The Contractor shall terminate the T-1 and/or ISDN/PRI service on a Contractor-provided RJ-45 network interface device (NID) located in the end user's building telecommunications equipment room. The NID shall be labeled to clearly identify the location of each T-1 and/or ISDN/PRI on the interface. The NID shall be located in each facility's building main telecommunications equipment room. Additionally, the Contractor shall provide and install fast-acting gas-tube transient voltage surge suppressors on each service installed in the facility. The Commonwealth will not accept carbon block protectors as secondary protection.

NOTE: The Commonwealth is responsible for all intra-building cabling from the NID to the telecommunications equipment.

During the course of the installation, the Contractor shall not interfere with the current operational telephone system and/or telecommunications cabling system in a manner that causes operational outages. In the event that temporary modifications to the existing telephone and/or cabling system become necessary to complete the installation of the new service, the Contractor shall notify the on-site contact person of such need in order to schedule a mutually agreeable time for the Commonwealth to have the modifications completed.

The Contractor shall be responsible for obtaining all rights-of way, licenses, and/or permits required by applicable authorities in order to install the service at the location specified on the Telecommunications Service Order issued by DIT.
